Hi Justin – Thanks for the info.

I did the calculation and you would have to process 2.3 MMBF of wood/month before you would have to start take a closer look at the Rule 290 exemption (which exempts the kiln from needing a permit). From the data below you are way below that. If that is at all a possibility you would need to keep that number in mind.

I will resolve the violation notice and make sure this information is in the file for future reference. Thanks.
