NEWS ON DEQ'S MOVE TO CONSTITUTION HALL

The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) is relocating in downtown Lansing. Starting November 6, 2001, and ending February 14, 2002, all of the various DEQ divisions will relocate their administrative offices in phases to one new location at 525 W. Allegan Street in downtown Lansing. The new building will be called "Constitution Hall" – it sits on the site where the state's 1963 Constitution was drafted. Approximately 920 DEQ employees will have their offices there. All telephone numbers, including fax numbers, will remain the same except for: (a) Geological Survey and (b) Drinking Water and Radiological Protection, which will receive new telephone and fax numbers. For mailing purposes, specific Post Office Box numbers will remain the same.

This attractive new building adds an impressive dimension to the skyline of the State Capitol city. The Governor will dedicate the building on October 3, 2001. Permit applicants, vendors, contractors, and the general public can now conduct all of their DEQ business at one location, within one block of the State Capitol dome. Constitution Hall is also one block from the Library/Historical Museum and within one block of 12 other state government departments.

Stay tuned for further updates concerning which division in DEQ moves when and to what floor of Constitution Hall.
