

STATE 	WEBSITE ADDRESS 	DESCRIPTION
Alabama	http://www.adem.state.al.us/education Div/Nonpoint Program/WSNPSResMat.htm	Alabama's website on environmental education hits a strong note in creating awareness for environmental concerns around this state.
Alaska	http://www.dec.state.ak.us/water/wqsar/outreached/outreach_education.htm	Visit this Alaska website to learn more about "The Last Frontier's" environmental education programs. Learn about environmental projects that are created in the hopes to further education.
Arizona	http://www.azdeg.gov/function/education/index.html	Arizona's website is not only set up to further environmental education but also to encourage participation in environmental planning and decision making. Visit the Arizona website for educational resources.
Arkansas	http://www.adeq.state.ar.us/home/progs_educational.htm	In order to keep "The Natural State" beautiful, Arkansas' environmental website has an education section for citizens to learn more about the environment and how they themselves can become active in their own environment's future.
California	http://www.swrcb.ca.gov/education/index.html	See how California is doing their part to create curriculum and outreach programs for their citizenry about water quality.
	http://www.calepa.ca.gov/Education/CEEIN/About.htm	California Environmental Education Interagency Network (CEEIN) is put together in the effort for a unified reaction to environmental education needs around the state of California.

Colorado	http://wildlife.state.co.us/education/	The Colorado Division of Wildlife's education website has an assortment of areas covered. From workshops for teachers to programs for students, this Colorado website has a variety of resources.
	http://www.blm.gov/education/LearningLandscapes/menu/states/colorado.html	Learning Landscapes for Colorado has important information to connect students and teachers to their environment. Visit the BLM website for curriculum, exhibit locations, and more fun things to keep teachers and students involved in the environment.
Connecticut	http://dep.state.ct.us/educ/	Visit this website to learn more about what's going on in Connecticut related to environmental education. This site links you to available classes, events, ee centers, newsletters, and educational programs & resources. Get connected!
Delaware	http://www.destateparks.com/Activities/eeprograms/EEPI.asp	This site is currently under maintenance. Use this website to find environmental programs in Delaware. Programs can be organized by age (preschool through adult) or region.
Florida	http://www.dep.state.fl.us/secretary/ed/	Learning in Florida's environment (LIFE) is a group with the goal to educate Florida's community by creating/promoting programs around the state involving environmental education. The ultimate goal of this is to increase students achievement in areas related to science. To learn about the core goals LIFE has set and more information on Florida's environmental issues, visit the website!

Georgia	http://www.eeingorgia.org/	Your hub for environmental education in Georgia. Get up to date information about upcoming events that will keep your schedule busy. Want to get your students involved in the environment? This site also offers different lesson plans for teachers to use in their classroom.
Hawaii	http://www.k12.hi.us/~tlcf/marcopolo/curriculum/hawaiiresources.htm#Environmental%20Study	A site specifically dedicated to students and teachers studying Hawaii. Contains links for environmental education and natural history resources around the web.
Idaho	http://www.idahoee.org/	IDEEA is a non-profit organization that helps to better serve educators of Idaho. The site has a database full of environmental education resources
Illinois	http://www.epa.state.il.us/education.html	Why is protecting the environment important? Explaining some of the many reasons is one of the activities of the Illinois EPA. This website provides an interactive learning atmosphere, and offers information for kids and educators.
Indiana	http://www.goshen.edu/eeai/resources.html#	Environmental Education Association of Indiana's website. Be sure to check out the education links at the very bottom of the page!
Iowa	http://www.iowadnr.com/education/index.html	With a calendar filled with events, this organization is a great way to make environmental education hands-on. Between programs, workshops, and conferences, this site related to ee in Iowa is a key ingredient to the spreading of environmental awareness through education.

Kansas	http://www.kacee.org/	KACEE has goals to increase the literacy of individuals in Kansas about environmental education. KACEE prides themselves in being non-partisan and strictly delivering the issues/facts to the community.
Kentucky	http://keec.ky.gov/	KEEC is a network of citizens concerned with improving the environmental education in Kentucky. KEEC has created learning units for the class room and sets up a massive conference every 5 years with educators around the state to discuss how to improve the ee in their state. To learn more about Kentucky's strides visit this website.
Louisiana	http://www.deq.louisiana.gov/portal/tabid/83/Default.aspx	The DEQ of Louisiana dedicates part of their website to providing environmental education resources.
Maine	http://www.maine.gov/dep/education.htm	The MEEA is a great way to learn about ways to get involved with environmental education. This organization also holds conferences every spring to bring the Maine community together for a common goal, spreading knowledge about environmental education.
Minnesota	http://www.moea.state.mn.us/ee/index.cfm	Minnesota's environmental education uses an apple to represent how the environment and education go hand in hand. The Minnesota site provides an extensive list of resources that can be used to further education and development in their state, creating a cross between the environment, cultures, health, programs, etc.

Maryland	http://www.mde.state.md.us/citizensinfocenter/environmental_education/index.asp	MAEOE is a well known organization just celebrating there 20th anniversary devoted to environmental education. A unique part of MAEOE is offering internship and job opportunities off of their website. Helping to connect outside opportunities for individuals interested in pursuing environmental education in their career. Visit the website to learn about the blue sky!
Massachusetts	http://www.mass.gov/dcr/stewardship/interp/interp.htm	MEES also allows companies a place to post job opportunities on the web site. MEES is a great way for Massachusetts citizens who are interested in environmental education, to access loads of different information about how to become involved, network, communicate and providing material resources.
Michigan	http://www.michigan.gov/deq/0,1607,7-135-3307_3580_---,00.html	The Michigan DEQ site targets individuals and groups from a wide range between students, educators, etc. with a goal of expanding their environmental knowledge. This site has extensive information varying from current events, to volunteer opportunities, and the list goes on.
Minnesota	http://www.moea.state.mn.us/ee/index.cfm	Minnesota's environmental education uses an apple to represent how the environment and education go hand in hand. The Minnesota site provides an extensive list of resources that can be used to further education and development in their state. Creating a cross between the environment, cultures, health, programs, etc.

Mississippi	http://www.deq.state.ms.us/MDEQ.nsf/page/Main_EnvEdu	The Mississippi DEQ is on a mission to preserve the environment today for future generations. Not only by conserving but also by attempting to improve the environment by being focused on research and feeling a responsibility to the environment. The Mississippi DEQ takes pride in performing at the highest levels and keeping the Mississippi community informed about educational opportunities.
Missouri	www.dnr.mo.gov/services/educ.htm	The DNR has goals of creating an environmentally responsible state. Spreading the word of the importance of environmental education within Missouri communities. Anywhere from information on workshops, places to share your personal thoughts on the environment, different projects, etc. can be found on the Missouri DNR website.
Montana	http://www.blm.gov/education/LearningLandscapes/menu/states/montana.html	Montana environmental education association was created to advocate the importance of environmental education around the state of Montana. The benefit of educating others about this crucial topic is that it will create a chain reaction that hopefully will leave Montana environmentally sound.

Nebraska	http://www.nacee.org/	Nebraska looks to separate themselves from the rest with their Alliance of Conservation and Environmental Education. A cohesive organization that combines a promotion of environmental education with resources to help carry out these goals not only through the classroom but also within the community.
Nevada	http://www.blm.gov/education/LearningLandscapes/menu/states/nevada.html	Come visit the BLM Learning Landscapes website and get the dish on how to become involved and interact with environmental education Nevada style!
New Jersey	http://www.state.nj.us/dep/seeds/	The alliance for New Jersey Environmental education has a goal of keeping the beauty of its Garden State. The alliance not only has goals of making an impact on the community but also connecting with other organizations around the state of New Jersey who are also determined at spreading environmental knowledge.
New Mexico	http://www.blm.gov/education/LearningLandscapes/menu/states/newmexico.html	EEANM itself is a very diverse association dedicated to furthering environmental education around the state of New Mexico. With publications, a calendar, listserv, and information on news, this website is very informative for those interested in environmental education in New Mexico. Also a way to determine changes that need to be made or ways to improve environmental literacy.

New York	http://www.dec.state.ny.us/	New York's Department of Environmental Conservation is committed to improving the health, safety, and welfare by protecting, conserving, and improving New York's natural resources. The DEC has 3 main goals they look to achieve which are manage natural resources, environmental quality protection, and to promote public health, safety, and recreation.
North Carolina	http://www.enr.state.nc.us/html/environmental_education.html	EENC is run by volunteers and souly based on members support. This environmental organization is in cooperation with the NAAEE, The North American Association for Environmental Education. The EENC sees themselves as dedicated stewards of natural resources and the NC environment and further.
North Dakota	http://nd.water.usgs.gov/index/watereducation.html	This website is to educate the citizens of North Dakota about water education. For information on North Dakota projects and programs, visit this link!
Ohio	http://www.epa.state.oh.us/oef/	The OEEF's intentions are to further the knowledge of environmental education across the state of Ohio. Visit the OEEF website for resources and outreach information in Ohio.

Oklahoma	http://www.deq.state.ok.us/mainlinks/eepage.htm	Oklahoma's environmental education website is a fascinating way of connecting from little children to elderly adults. They also offer a student center with career opportunities and basic environmental information. They offer unique programs such as "use less stuff", "waste free lunch organization", and the Oklahoma Star Incentive Program that recognizes facilities on three different star levels (silver, gold, and platinum) ranking how the business meets regulations.
Oregon	http://www.eeao.org/index.aspx	The Oregon affiliate of the NAAEE. EEAO supports excellence in environmental education. The site is currently under construction but will be complete in FALL 2008
Pennsylvania	http://www.depweb.state.pa.us/enved/cwp/view.asp?a=3&q=473224	Pennsylvania encourages as much community participation in environmental education programs as possible. Visit the website to learn of ways that you can bring your own thoughts and contributions.
Rhode Island	http://www.dem.ri.gov	The homepage for the Rhode Island Department of Environmental Management provides links to environmental data, events, environmental non-profit organizations, and much more!

South Carolina	http://www.myschools.com/offices/cso/enved/	South Carolina has an assortment of goals intended for improving student's knowledge about the environment. South Carolina sees making environmental literacy a priority is a place to start. Visit the website to learn how South Carolina is making a difference!
South Dakota	http://www.state.sd.us/doa/forestry/text/current_news/currentnews.htm	Having poster contests through the year is a way that South Dakota tries to get students involved in environmental education. Learn more about what South Dakota is doing to improve the literacy of their state's environmental education knowledge!
Tennessee	http://www.eeintennessee.org	The new website for the organization TEEA. An excellent source of information, conduct detailed searches for resources, organizations and schools.
Texas	http://www.tceq.state.tx.us/nav/resources/env_resources.html	For information about Texas and environmental education visit this website. This website will give you many tools to expanding your environmental knowledge!
Utah	http://www.blm.gov/education/LearningLandscapes/menu/states/utah.html	The Learning Landscapes is a part of the Bureau of Land and Management that helps to spread environmental literacy across some states, including Utah.
Vermont	http://www.vermontsweep.org/	In trying to spread the word of the importance of EE literacy, Vermont has created SWEEP, a state-wide environmental education program.

Virginia	http://www.vanaturally.com/	Virginia has created a directory to find information on EE in a more effective way. In environmental education programs alone there are over 100 listed. For information on Virginia visit this website.
Washington	http://www.ecy.wa.gov/services/ee/	Washington's environmental education website has information on classroom curriculum, workshops, volunteer work, etc. Visit this website to learn more about these topics and more!
West Virginia	http://www.wvdep.org	This website is for information about Project WET, a program that is running in West Virginia.
Wisconsin	http://www.uwsp.edu/cnr/wcee	The Wisconsin Center for Environmental Education (WCEE) is a part of the University of Wisconsin and is divided between sites. Not only does this website provide resource information but also a hub to other websites related to EE in Wisconsin.
Wyoming	http://www.blm.gov/education/LearningLandscapes/menu/states/wyoming.html	The Learning Landscapes is a part of the Bureau of Land and Management that helps to spread environmental literacy across some states, including Wyoming. Come visit!