RESOLVED COMPLAINTS:

This portable concrete crusher was operating at the Chef Container / Cocoa Corporation property in Holland.

There were some VE's noticeable up to 20% when I first walked up to the crusher, but then it cleared up quickly. Apparently there was jam-up in the crusher which caused the temporary emissions. It was operating with 0-5% opacity at the crusher during normal operation. There were no VE's at the collection conveyor or discharge conveyor.

Water was being sprayed at the crusher, the collection conveyor, and the discharge conveyor.
